1. In 2010 and prior years, all our investment income was shown on the Income Statement. Starting in 2011, accounting policies changed and now require that investment income be split between operations and our various funds. Therefore, a major portion of investment income no longer appears on the Income Statement.
2. Donations include envelope and open givings, plus wedding and funeral contributions
This is total income from investments, shown on the income statement for the portion that applies to the General Fund, and on the funds statement, for the restricted funds portion.
